I was an undergrad and a postgrad at Wye in the late 60's and now am a resident in the village, still associated with the college through my role as editor of the Agricola Club Journal.

I am excited by the plans but at the same time concerned about the real impact on the village.

I appreciate that it is early days, but you must have some idea how much of the college farm land you would like to see sold off for development or developed by yourselves.

Is it 25, 50, 75 or 100 percent?

I have heard 100% is the target but would like a more 'official' estimate.

Yours sincerely
